Hi Peter

My apologies for getting this to you late. I provide the following:

Mount Rex Communication Site

The following figure identifies the Mount Rex Communication Station Buffer Area as per the Electricity Transmission Infrastructure Protection Code (ETIPC) in blue hatch. As I understand it, this layer has informed the ETIPC Layer in the draft LPS. The location of this Buffer Area is in fact in the incorrect position. The small title to the north which includes the ACMA arrow is the correct location of the Communication Site. This is further verified in Figure 2 an aerial image which clearly depicts the Communication Site within the small title known as 3391262.

As such, TasNetworks would like to amend it representation and request that the title known as 3391262 be rezoned to Utilities and the ETIPC Communication Station Buffer Area layer be amended to apply to 331262.

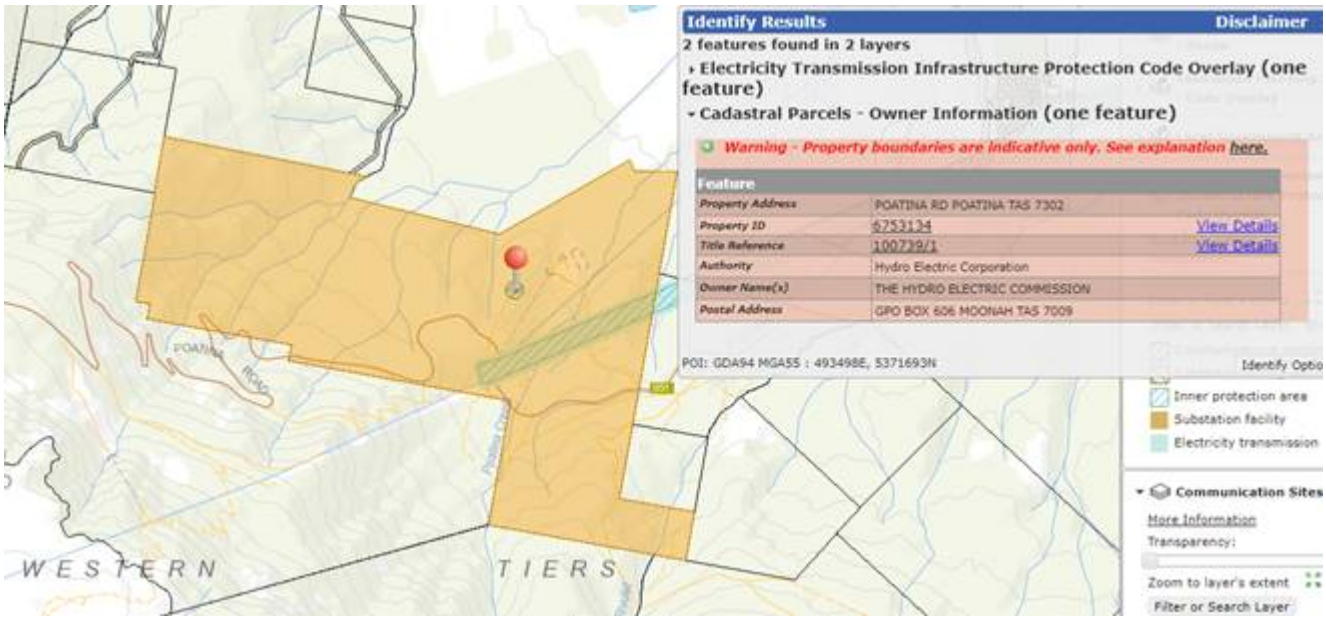
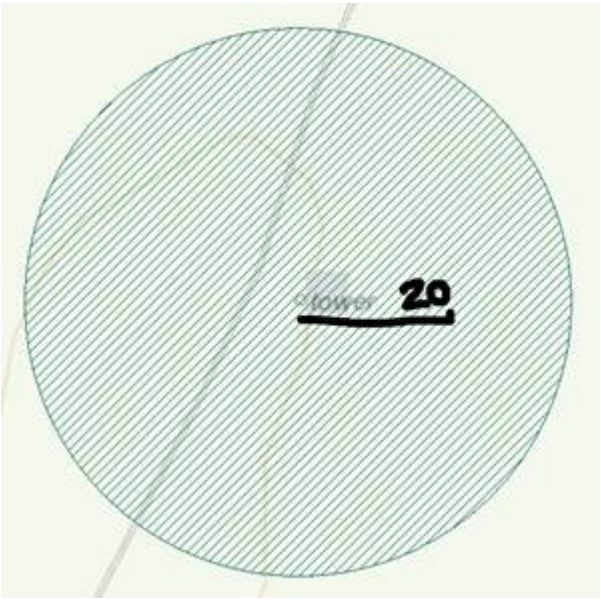
Poatina Communication Site

The following figures provide additional clarity regarding the location of thePoatina Communication Site.
As detailed in the representation, the site is zoned Envrionemtnal Management under the draft LPS. As the site is part of a larger title, TasNetworks requests that a 20m radius from the centre of of the communication site be rezoned to Utilities. This is in line with other requests made on other LPS's.





Happy to discuss further
Odin
